

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20.—The United States Government has been asked to protect a strike by street car men in Cincinnati against another city.

The strike was called off by Fredrick Fick, who is leading the street car strike in New York City, and it is expected to last at least ten days in Hamilton, in which many persons have been ordered to leave the country at once because they refused to work under the terms ordered by the strikers.

President William D. Mahon, head of the street car union in Cincinnati, has written a letter to the United States Consul at Hamilton, and stated where you are now.

Made-to-day to leave the matter taken up at Washington and an international question is being raised between the two cities parallel, so far as common sense is concerned. It is requested to insist on his rights as a citizen of the United States and to demand that the Mayor and Sheriff Middleton, if he said, both have twenty-four hours to let them know how they will handle the situation, or else to refuse to do so.

If the order is not well refused, the strikers will be allowed to continue their strike.

Mr. Mahon himself will stand tonight for Hamilton, and he has already sent a petition to the President in the name of the city asking him to take action.

TWO YANKEE SONGBIRDS SIGH FOR THE SUNNY SKIES OF ITALY

MISS EVELYN KURNED
MISS EVELYN LEVERONI

Miss Leveroni of the North End and Miss Kurned of Melrose Find America Cold.

Italian Audiences, They Declare, Are More Warmly Sympathetic Than Those Here.

Back from three years of study in Italy, Miss Evelyn Leveroni, the beautiful girl whose debut was made in a humble home in the North End, and Miss Evelyn Kurned, a Melrose girl, are enjoying the holiday season with their families, but both are eager to return to the sunny land where they have found so much to interest them.

Both young women have met with wonderful success in grand opera, and both appeared regularly in prominent roles at the opera in Naples.

Miss Kurned and Miss Leveroni arrived home Saturday on the White Star ship Republic of the Isles.

Home-Back for Sunny Skies.

"When I saw the old gray Boston harbor, I really felt homesick for Italy," said Miss Kurned, who is a soprano. "I have been in Italy for three years, and I have found that the Italian audience is more sympathetic than any other I have met."

Miss Kurned has been studying under the direction of the famous Italian vocal coach, Signor de Luca, who is now in the city of Philadelphia.

Miss Leveroni, who is a mezzo-soprano, also has been studying in Italy. She has been in the city of Philadelphia for the last three years, and she has found that the Italian audience is more sympathetic than any other I have met.

"I am so glad to be home," said Miss Kurned. "I have found that the Italian audience is more sympathetic than any other I have met."

BRIDE ADMITS HER 'DOING IN STAGELAND'

Harry B. Smith, the Librettist, Wins Irene Bentley of "The Belle of Mayfair."

SURPRISE ON THE RIALTO

A loud wire dispatch to the BOSTON AMERICAN from New York today declares that the libretto in discussion to surprise the secret wedding in Boston of Miss Irene Bentley of "The Belle of Mayfair," which is playing at the Colonial Theatre, in this city, to the widely known librettist, Harry B. Smith.

Miss Bentley, who is staying at the Bellevue Hotel, today admitted that she is now the wife of Mr. Smith.

The news comes to us today, Miss Bentley from New York, that you were married to Harry B. Smith in Boston last Friday.

"Is this true?" Miss Bentley was asked today by a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter.

"Yes, it is true," she drew out slowly, "I married him last Friday night."

"Did you do this without his consent?" she asked.

"No, I did not," she replied. "I was very clever, and I did not let him know."

"Did you do this without his consent?" she asked.

RABIES CRAZES HOTEL WAITER

Growling and barking like a mad dog, William Shedd, an English waiter at the Lexington Hotel, threw the guests in the main dining room of the hotel into a panic at midnight, when he was seen with a dog's head in his hands.

Without warning he threw down at his feet a large, black, shaggy dog, and then he began to growl and bark like a mad dog.

Made In Porto Rico From Porto Rican Tobacco

That's one thing that's sure about El Toro cigars—something extremely doubtful about the many so-called "Porto Rican" brands.

The recent increased cost of Porto Rican leaf is responsible for the many brands of doubtful quality now being rushed on the market.

EL TORO Cigar—5 Cents is the one cigar you can be sure is genuine Porto Rican—in name and quality.

El Toro represents the best 5-cent cigar that Porto Rico can produce. Smokers of El Toro cigars know how far superior this brand has always been to any cigar sold for 5 cents.

This year's Porto Rican tobacco crop is better than ever before and only the choicest selections are made in the El Toro. For this reason the El Toro now on the market are particularly recommended to smokers.

Every El Toro is now hand-rolled. This is the cigar that has done so much to popularize Porto Rican cigars among discriminating smokers.

WOMAN KILLED, 9 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 25.—One woman was killed and seven other passengers were more or less injured by the overturning of a double-track electric car on the Baker street trolley line today.

The car, for some reason, as it was being driven, jumped the track at Tyler and Barker streets, at the foot of a short cut, and fell into a large hole in the ground.

Instantly the air was filled with the cries of the frightened passengers. Two people living in the city hurried at once to the scene, while half a dozen others, who were passing by, stopped to see what had happened.

SANTA BRINGS DOWN CIRCUS SIEGEL'S STORE

Santa Claus and his reindeer are the center of the Christmas season in Siegel's store.

The holiday season begins in Boston to-day. Santa Claus arrived just after midnight last night to visit his headquarters for the season in the third floor of the Siegel's store. He was accompanied by his reindeer, and his sleigh was filled with gifts for the children of the city.

Santa Claus began by visiting the children of the city. He was seen in every department of the store, and he was seen in every department of the store. He was seen in every department of the store, and he was seen in every department of the store.

Free to the Children.

And it's all for the children of Boston. Free to them is a gift from Santa Claus. It is a gift from Santa Claus, and it is a gift from Santa Claus. It is a gift from Santa Claus, and it is a gift from Santa Claus.

Next to the dolls' booth is the beautiful doll house. The largest doll house ever made is on display here. It is a doll house, and it is a doll house. It is a doll house, and it is a doll house.

An Automobile Garage.

There comes the automobile garage, with motor cars of every size and style. It is a garage, and it is a garage. It is a garage, and it is a garage.

WON'T RECALC, SAYS CRAPSEY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Declaring that he is compelled to stand by his convictions as to the birth of Jesus, and refusing to make a "sincerely intended" statement which would indicate the church's position on the subject, Rev. J. H. Crapsey, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, has written Bishop Walker of the Western New York conference his answer to the latter's appeal for a statement in place of authority.

WOMAN JUMPS FROM STEAMER AT SEA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 26.—A young woman who has been taken into custody for the purpose of being married to a man who is known to be a criminal, has jumped from the steamer "Miss A. Browning" at Jacksonville, on the Gulf line steamer "Hawkeye," and has been taken into custody by the police.

Actor Lawrance D'Orsay, Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., DOUBLES

LAWRENCE D'ORSAY AND GOVERNOR GUILD—NOTE THE RESEMBLANCE

English Comedian on Morning Walk Saluted as Massachusetts' Chief Magistrate.

A tall, well-built man with rather military bearing appeared on Washington street early today and scattered along a solitary member. He had not gone far when he was addressed by a young man in surprise, in this language:

"Good morning, governor."

"Good morning," replied the man coolly.

He walked a little further when another man, well dressed and prosperous in appearance, nodded in a friendly way to him. The thing seemed to appeal homely to the visitor. He smiled right and left and continued his walk. Finally a young man stepped him on the shoulder and said:

"Hello, Curtis."

"Ah—yes, indeed; really, I know—"

"Lawrence M.P.," said the young man, and walked on with a satisfied air.

The stranger continued to walk on, and the young man continued to walk on.

"Why, really now, what's the matter?"

"They took you for the governor, Mr. D'Orsay."

When You See Him at Theatre You Will See Why, for He Looks Just the Same Off the Stage.

D'Orsay—and I'm not surprised because Governor Guild is certainly not doing. The resemblance between the two men is so striking that it is almost impossible to tell them apart. They are both men of many talents, and they are both men of many talents.
